Mrs. Powell, sitting in a chair with a rifle in her. down a transitory riot in a street in the city. hands before her, got a spear in the breast, and flying to her husband's side, and yet alive, was stoned to death. The boy was killed with one our Sabbath Schools. True, one school has been spear. The bodies must be lying on the ground droys in a two, whooled drag from Todmorden burned, but this was a very pare instance, and without barial. We have tried to get at least the hadies to bury them, but they have answered that they would not! leave anything, and if we should come they would kill us also. From them we have got nothing. From the first that were killed [the gamekeeper's party f] we have got u little, capecially some elephant rifles. This is, in short, the account we have got. His English servant escaped, being together with McKerer and Kycdberg.-Tindire, in the Barea and Kunama country, April 30th 1869.—Andrew LUNDHOLM [?], Swedish Missionary. It seems that Mr. Powell's party continued ment, but all the rest were precipitated into the Chinese come to us from a foreign land, not be. their journey till Saturday, evening, when they lake. Miss Fielding gave an alarm, and a number ing citizens among us like the negroes (who had reached "Tika," and were at first well received of persons ran to their assistance. An apprentice sent by his employers to Greenock refused to travel by the third-class "stand-up" carriages, and was dismissed for disobeying orders. He accordingly brought anaction against them for wrongful dismissal. Evidence was given to the effect that apprentices in similar establishments enjoyed the luxury of forward evidence to show that their practice tomers. The sheriff decided in favour of the
